Just One Sack of Flour

will convince you it is the kind you cannot afford to be without hereafter. Order one to-day and you'll have better luck with your baking than ever before. Those who try our flour once always use it regularly afterward. We believe you will too. There's a reason.

The Paris Milling Co.

Finest Food Products In Widest Variety

"Tell me what you eat and I'll tell you what you are," said the philosopher. He might with equal truth have said: "Tell me where you buy and I'll tell you what you get."

If you buy here you get foods of finest quality, and in widest variety. Whatever your tastes—whether you like the rich and dainty things—or, prefer just plain, wholesome eating.

We have the goods to please you—all selected with utmost care, by men who know. We warrant the freshness and quality of everything we sell. And the prices are always reasonable.

If you want a treat for breakfast try our

a coffee of improved flavor—slow-cooked and dry-cured, after long seasoning. It makes a delicious drink, because the bitter principle is extracted, but the real coffee tang is all there.

A cup in the morning will "set you on your feet" and make the day's work easier. Sealed in flavor-tight tins while still hot, to preserve the natural flavor.

Called Meeting of City Council.

There was a called meeting of the City Council last night to act on the bonds of the city officers. Mayor John T. Hinton was given the glad hand when he took the chair and rapped for order. Full Board of Council was present.

City Attorney, C. A. McMillan, the legal adviser of the Board was at his post of duty.

The bonds of the following city officers were accepted and placed on file: The bond of City Assessor, M. F. Kenney, was fixed at $500, which he presented with Chas. E. Butler as surety.

The City Treasurer, Mr. James McClure, filed his bond for $50,000, with Claude M. Thomas, W. P. Ardery, M. R. Jacoby, Clell E. Turney, Clifton Arnsperger, John A. LaRue, W. W. Haley and R. B. Hutchcraft as sureties.

City Collector Stamps Moore gave $50,000 bond, with M. R. Jacoby, C. M. Thomas, James McClure, John A. LaRue and Clell Turney as sureties.

The bond of Judge E. B. January was filed with Clifton Arnsperger and J. H. Haggard as sureties.

Chief of Police Jeff C. Elgin's bond for $2,500, was endorsed by the American Bonding Company, of Baltimore, Md.

The bond of Policeman Ben F. Bishop, for $1,000, with Catesby Spears and C. L. Talbott as sureties.

Policemen Wm. F. Link and C. B. Thomas gave $1,000 bond, with American Bonding Company as surety.

County Clerk Paton then administered the oath of office to the above officers.

When Chief Elgin was returning to his seat, City Attorney C. A. McMillan halted him and in short and appropriate address presented Mr. Elgin a beautiful and artistic gold badge, in behalf of a number of his warm supporters, as an insignia of his office, and as a token of their friendship. Mr. Elgin modestly accepted the badge with thanks, showing his appreciation by his smiling countenance.

Emmett Edwards was elected engineer of the city roller.

A motion was made by Councilman Dempsey to go into the election of an extra policeman. Councilman Wilson offered substitute to defer until February. The substitute carried by the vote of the three new Councilmen and of course, Wilmoth, the lone Republican, was "Johnny on the spot" with them.

A committee composed of Baldwin, Dempsey and Wilmoth were appointed to confer with G. W. Wilder in regard to widening Thirteenth street before Wilder begins erecting a big building on corner Main and Thirteenth.

Mayor Hinton then declared Council adjourned until next regular meeting.

Excellent Showing.

MATRIMONIAL.

—Mr. Alonzo M. Houston and Miss Mattie M. Henry, both of this city, were united in marriage at the residence of the officiating minister, Elder I. J. Spencer, in Lexington, Thursday evening, at 8 o'clock. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Manda Henry, and has been one of the popular lady clerks at Frank & Co.'s, and was at her post of duty at this store until closing time Thursday evening. The groom is an efficient employe at Spears & Sons grain and milling establishment on South Main street. The wedding was quite a surprise to the many friends of the happy young couple who returned to Paris the following morning.

DEATHS.

WILLIAMS.

—Mrs. Elizabeth Stone Williams, daughter of the late Thomas and Belinda Dickey Stone, and wife of Mr. John J. Williams, residing on Scott Avenue, died Friday of general debility, at the age of seventy years. Mrs. Williams was born near Cane Ridge, this county, where her distinguished relative, the famous Barton W. Stone, was the first to promulgate the reformation, and through whose influence the first Christian church west of the Alleghenies was erected in 1803.

Besides her husband, Mrs. Williams is survived by two sons, Warren Williams, of the United States railway mail service, and attorney John J. Williams, of the Paris bar; one granddaughter, Miss Lucy Williams Dodge, and one grandson, Mr. Edgar Dodge, and two brothers, Mr. H. Clay Stone and Mr. Richard N. Stone, of North Middletown.

Mrs. Williams was a consistent member of the Christian church and was admired and beloved for her beautiful Christian character.

The funeral services were held Sunday from the residence at 2:30 o'clock p. m. Services by Elder C. E. Morgan. The interment will be in the Paris cemetery.

The pall-bearers were Doug Thomas, Geo. W. Wyatt, Thomas Henry Clay, John J. McClintock, H. Clay Hutchcraft, Frank P. Lowry, N. B. Turpin and Thomas Helm Clay.

—The body of the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Lucien Buck, who died at their home in North Carolina, arrived here Sunday morning and taken to the home of its grandmother, Mrs. Evelyn Buck, who accompanied the body to Paris. The interment took place in the Paris cemetery Sunday afternoon, at 4 o'clock. Services at the grave by Rev. Dr. B. M. Shive.

Forces a Smile.

The Denver News gives Republicans something to think about when it says: "The News likes Senator La Follette. But when the good Senator raises his pompadour to affirm that if Roosevelt had been in the chair he would have got a tariff revision as was a tariff revision, we are obliged to smile. Likewise to mention some indeterminate thing, such as 'piffle,' Mr. Roosevelt occupied the presidential chair through the seven and one half strenuous years—and didn't do a thing to the tariff. He had every inducement to attack the question. He had spoken against its absurdities when there was no chance that he would be called on to put his word in practice. Nay, more, the circumstances of his coming to the presidency urged him with peculiar force to attempt the revision. The last public utterance of McKinley was a declaration that our tariff policy must be radically changed, and the burdens on our trade greatly reduced. Then McKinley died. Roosevelt came in, vowing that he was going to carry out the McKinley policies. Yet he never even tried to carry out this foremost of McKinley's progressive policies. He left that job for Taft. When a man has had seven and a half years to do a job, and doesn't even start it the while, it strikes us just a bit silly to prate about what he would have done in eleven years."

Wellman is Scared.

Even Walter Wellman is scared. In a Washington dispatch to the Chicago Record Herald, Mr. Wellman says: "What are the people of the great West thinking and saying? What is the attitude of the West toward the present administration and the leaders in Congress? What is the West going to do in the coming campaigns and elections. These are the burning questions here at the National Capitol. Every man who comes from the great heart of the country—the seat of empire—is asked for a report. What has he heard? How do the people feel? The answers are alarming. They show that the Republican party as now managed is fast losing the confidence of the people. This is true not of the West alone, but of the whole country. Discontent is everywhere, but it is keenest on the prairies, the western mountain slopes and the Pacific coast."

A Hard Hitting Woman.

The town of Wilmerding is near enough to Pittsburgh to have caught the Smoky City's habit of "going the limit" in whatever happens. To illustrate: The other day the Wilmerding Ladies' Benevolent Society had a meeting. Prior to the meeting one member had demanded an audit of the treasurer's books. The treasurer hearing of this had announced that she would heck the complaining member on sight. Being thus forewarned the latter slipped her husband's brass knuckles into her stocking and attended the meeting, and demanded her rights. The treasurer attempting to make good on her promise, butted the complainant in the stomach, knocking her down, and landed on her again with an unabridged dictionary as she arose, flooring her the second time. And this was where the treasurer played the game too fine, for the injured party reached for her "knuckles" and when she arose proceeded to put the treasurer out of commission in great style and while her blood was up just continued the fun till she had cleaned out the society.

Robbed of Her Hair.

Mrs. William J. Ehlen, whose five feet of heavy blond hair has been the envy and admiration of St. Louis woman for years, was knocked unconscious by an unidentified man, as she was leaving her home for church Sunday morning, and her hair chopped off close to her head with a razor. She was dragged unconscious into the hallway of her home and lay in that condition for an hour before she was found. Her condition is serious. This attack was the third in two weeks. She was approached on the street on a previous occasion by a man who first made an offer in money for the hair and then attempted to clip off the two braids with shears. The hair fell far below her knees and she had refrained many large offers for it. She is 28 years of age.

Racing Circuit for Kentucky.

The Cincinnati Enquirer says that indications point to the revival of racing at many points in Kentucky, that there is now talk of the organization of a trotting and racing circuit that will include Harrodsburg, Danville, Winchester, Somerset, London, Lexington, Paris, Versailles, Erlanger, Frankfort, Georgetown, Louisville, Henderson, Owensboro, Paducah and Hopkinsville. There are a number of other cities that may be added to the circuit if formed, and among them is Middlesboro, Mayesville, Ashland, Catlettsburg, Bardonia, and Elizabethtown. This circuit would attract a good many useful horses, and would help the breeder develop his horse at home without taking it to Indiana or Ohio to contest the purses on the fair circuit. Fairs have been run in all of these cities during the last few years, and the patrons of the fairs want to see some racing. Even the race between the local horse in the roadster rings attracts the best attention. It is said that the people are demanding races, and will have them, so things look good for the breeder.

The busiest little things ever made are Dr. King's New Life Pills. Every pill is a sugar coated globe of health, that changes weakness into strength, languor into energy, brain fog into mental power; curing constipation, headache, chills dyspepsia and malaria. 25 cents at Oberdorfer's.

Has Confidence in Cook.

Rear Admiral W. S. Schley has issued a public statement in which, while reaffirming his confidence in Dr. Cook as the North Pole explorer, he calls upon Commander Peary to submit his proofs to some scientific body other than the National Geographical Society. Admiral Schley thinks that the same body which examined Cook's testimony should be permitted to pass on Peary's data. He adds: "The Danes are the best posted body of men in the world on Arctic matters. The consistory of the University of Copenhagen should be given the opportunity to examine the Peary proofs for in that way they would be submitted to the same test that was applied to those of Cook. The consistory which was regarded by the civilized world as more than friendly to Dr. Cook showed by its action in turning down the explorer that it holds the scales of justice, as it sees them, even and honestly."

All Over With Morse.

Attorney Martin W. Littleton, convinced Chas. W. Morse, the convicted president of the Bank of North America, of the futility of any further attempt to escape the sentence of the court and Morse will probably reach the Federal prison at Atlanta by noon today to commence the service of his fifteen years' term. Morse will be accompanied on his trip south by his wife and two sons.

Mild Laxative for Baby Free

The child of today is the parent of the future, and whether it grows up healthy and strong, or puny and weak depends upon the intelligence of its parents, for most children are born into the world healthy, but thousands become future weaklings between birth and the age of ten, when the parents are still in greatest control. The prime cause of trouble is in the stomach. A baby that is digesting its food seldom cries and always looks cheerful; the little child whose stomach is good romps and plays and never whines; the growing child learns well at school and is eager for fun if its head is clear and its stomach light, and that means it has no constipation.

The best and safest way to cure any irregularity of the stomach and bowels in children is by the use of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. This is a liquid laxative, wonderful in its effect as Mrs. John W. Dunham, Apple Creek, O., Mrs. H. L. Cullam, Plainville, Ind., and numerous others can testify who give it to their children with extraordinary results. A bottle only costs 50 cents or $1 according to the size you want, and ever one 50-cent bottle will do a wonderful amount of good in a family. It can be given to any member of the family in constipation, sour stomach, indigestion, torpid liver, dyspepsia, heartburn, sick headache and similar digestive troubles. It never gripes or strangles like pills, tablets, salts and powders, which should not be given to children, women or old folks.

If you have a child or other member of the family who needs, but has never used, this grand laxative tonic, send your name and address to the doctor and a free trial bottle will be sent to your home. In this way you can find out what it will do without personal expense.

If there is anything about your ailment that you don't understand, or if you want any medical advice, write to the doctor, and he will answer you fully. There is no charge for this service. The address is Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 300 Caldwell Bldg., Monticello, Ill.

Is all "Heat" and that is what you want this kind of weather.

First Time in History.

For the first time in its history, the State of New Hampshire observed New Year's day as a legal holiday, January 1 having been so designed by the last Legislature.

Tom Johnson Retires.

Tom L. Johnson, for eight years Mayor of Cleveland, at noon Saturday formally transferred the office to his successor, Hermann C. Baehr.

Ends Life With Old Year.

Judge John C. Voris was found dead in his law office in Georgetown at 6 o'clock Saturday evening with a bullet hole in his temple. He had been missing from his boarding house all day, and when found he was dressed in the clothes he wore at a banquet given by the Commercial Club Friday night.

He had responded to the toast, "Georgetown and Its Possibilities." His memory failed him and he had to refer to his manuscript. It is believed that this caused the deed which doubtless carried his life out with the old year.

Judge Voris was graduate of Georgetown College and Central Law College. He moved to Georgetown about three years ago and had been prominent as an attorney. He was elected vice grand of Golden Rule Lodge I. O. O. F. Friday night. His parents are wealthy and reside in Mercer county.

New Penalty for Pistol Toters.

Colonel Jack Chinn, Chairman of the State Racing Commission, who will represent the county of Mercer in the Legislature which is to convene at Frankfort today, will offer a bill prescribing a new penalty for pistol toters in Kentucky.

"I have observed that about seven out of ten men, after having killed another, offer as a defense the plea of insanity, emotional or otherwise," said Colonel Chinn, "and that the general public usually says about the other three out of ten: 'Why he must have been crazy.'"

"Now, I'm going to propose that it be the law that every man caught with a concealed weapon be presumed to be insane, that he be taken before the County Judge and sentenced to not less than 30 days in one of the insane asylums of the State and that he be so confined that he will be compelled to listen day and night to the ravings of the maddest of the mad. That will break them from carrying guns and knives quicker than any other way I know of."

"Going to jail won't stop them; it's too easy."

"Now, there is a lot of us fellows who have had to carry guns for protection against these pistol idiots that will be relieved of a lot of excess weight. I have never carried weapons in my time except with any other idea than defending myself against the attack of some crazy fellow with a knife or a gun. If we had always had my law there would be no necessity for us sensible fellows going around like walking 'arsenals,' and we would not have done it."

A $10,000 Hen.

To say that a hen that earns five hundred dollars a week and brings her owner $100 for every egg laid may seem a fairy tale, but it is true.

Peggy, a five-year old Crystal White Orpington, owned by Ernest Kellerstrass, of Kansas City, Mo., is the hen. Peggy is valued at ten thousand dollars and her standing in the poultry world is the highest.

For every week this hen is exhibited at a poultry show her owner receives five hundred dollars, and for every egg one hundred dollars. Five of the eggs recently sold, netted seventy-five hundred dollars.

When one totals up these earning powers of Peggy it will be seen that she commands an amount equal to many bank president's salaries and is on an equal wage scale with the best vaudeville people in the country.

$10,000 Offered for Kellner Child

"We will not only give $5,000 for the return of Alma Kellner but we will give another $5,000 for a private interview with her abductor," declared Frank Fehr, the wealthy cousin of the Louisville girl who was recently kidnapped from her home. "I have received a number of anonymous letters since Alma's disappearance," continued Mr. Fehr, "among them is one that looks good. It might spoil my chances of recovering the girl were I to divulge the contents of the letter."

THEATRICAL.

"MA'S NEW HUSBAND."

That merry, romping musical farce, "Ma's New Husband" will be at the Paris Grand, Thursday evening, January 6.

From all accounts, it is one of the big laugh makers of the season and Manager Harry Scott has been obliged to promise return dates in several cities in order to satisfy the popular demand.

The company has been receiving glowing press notices for clever, rapid fire work and for the singing and comedy merit of the individual members.

Much success of "Ma's New Husband" is said to be due to its plot and to the dexterous handling of a maze of side splitting situations. The scene of all the mirth and melody is laid in the Chicago home of a rich, old sport bachelor, Culpepper. His cousin, Maria Longfellow, has recently lost her boy, Willie. Culpepper had loved her in the old days and writes her to come on from New York and take charge of his home. His letter arrives in the nick of time to save Maria from visions of starvation, as she has just been eaten out of house and home and furniture by a lot of impecunious actors. One of these actors out of a job has captured her heart. Herbert Short is his name. They arrange to marry just as soon as there is enough money in sight to tide over the honeymoon. Maria brings Short along to Chicago and as Culpepper has never seen her boy, Willie, a lad of 16 years, it is agreed that Short will personate that youthful darling.

It is needless to state that Short is the center of mirth and laughter. His escapades with Dorothy, the housemaid, with Mrs. O'Brady, a visitor, with Mrs. Haliday a vocal instructor, with a venerable humbug of a tutor, Mr. Hooker, and indeed, with every character in the cast afford little breathing time for sanity or straight-faced demeanor. And it is all down-right, legitimate fun that every member of a household will enjoy. From grandpa with his silver hair down to the pet granddaughter on his knee, the book is by David Edgar, the music and lyrics by the popular song writer, George Fletcher. The special numbers include 16 of the latest musical hits, running from solos to sextettes and embracing comedy, topical, parody and sentimental themes. The members of the chorus are shapely maidens, sweet of voice and light of toe, so that the ensemble work will be no small feature of the performance.

"THE BLUE MOUSE."

Clyde Fitch has scored again. This time he has given the contemporary stage a farcical comedy which, it is said, is sure to prove a masterpiece. The farce, although it has already run for over a year in Germany and France, is still "going". It has also been presented in Austria, Sweden and Denmark and New York and Chicago laughed themselves sick over the funny complications of the play. Of course the play is "The Blue Mouse." The Messrs. Shubert are sending on tour of the principal cities of the middle West the same splendid company which has kept record-breaking audiences at the Garrick Theatre, Chicago, shrieking with glee the past three months. With this cast, including Millicent Evans, Samuel Edwards, Guy D'Ennery, Earle Mitchell, Marie Gerard, Lily Hall and fifteen others, "The Blue Mouse" will be seen here for the first time next Friday, Jan. 7, at the Paris Grand. Seats on sale at Oberdorfer's.

Will Fight Steel Trust.

Officers of the American Federation of Labor Saturday issued a call on its 1,540,000 members to subscribe to a fund with which to wage a fight on the "steel trust." The call arraigns the corporation as inimical both to labor and the country, and as violator of the laws. The sum of $154,000 is to be raised at once.

Money in Good Hogs.

Any farmer who will equip his farm for swine raising and keep other stock in order to change his rotations and expand his variety of crops can become well to do in five or ten years by raising good hogs and fattening them for market, says an exchange. There is absolutely no question about this. Pork can be cheaply and quickly produced. It can be made on other crops than high priced corn. Soy beans, clover and alfalfa will grow it. Corn is the most efficient fattener, but it is not necessary in pork production. Corn belt farmers could well afford to sell their corn and make pork with other crops. By sowing clover, alfalfa, cow peas, soy beans and feth in crop rotations the nitrogen and humus content of soils could be maintained and the element phosphorus could be applied to raw rock phosphate at comparatively light expense. We mean to say that soil fertility could be maintained and pork making made rotatable on corn farms without the use of corn as a hog feed.

Republicans Criticising Willson.

The failure of Governor Willson to appoint a member of the Board of Control is causing comment and criticism in Republican circles in Frankfort. It is contended that he appointment ought to have been made some time ago so the appointee could have had time to arrange his personal affairs, preparatory to assuming the duties of office.

To Cross Continent on Foot.

Edward Weston, the veteran pedestrian, announced Sunday that he will make one more transcontinental walk, and that he will try to go from ceen to ceen this time within 100 days. Weston will start from Los Angeles February 1, and will be due in New York May 2. His hike from New York to San Francisco early last summer took 65 days, but on that journey he encountered unfavorable weather.

THE MODERN GIRL AT HOME

Dainty and Pretty, and All That, But Their Ways Would Shock
Their Grandmothers.

The two girls had written, asking the woman to tea. They wanted to meet her, to see how she looked and behaved, for some reason or other. When she arrived she found a beautiful studio furnished in exquisite style, for one of the girls was an interior decorator. She found the two girls of much daintiness and prettiness and exceedingly modest and lovely, so much so that she was half afraid to breathe in their presence, afraid she might say or do something to shock them, having lived for some years in a Bohemian set. She drank the tea they gave her and talked on different topics which she thought would interest young girls. Finally one of the girls, pointing to a cigarette stub in an ash tray on the window sill, said apologetically:

"I suppose that shocks you awfully, doesn't it? It belongs to Stella. She will smoke now and then."

The woman took heart. "It doesn't shock me so very much," said she. "I'd like one."

Stella hastened to find the box of cigarettes.

"That was why I left home," she said. "My father told me I had either to leave home or quit smoking."

The other girl, in the beautiful and dainty white lawn, with small pink roses in it, arose and going to the drawer of her desk brought out a box. She opened it and took out a small perfumed cigar.

"These," said she, "suit me better. Cigarettes are too mild."

High Title Denied Washington.

A friend calls attention to the fact that Washington, although commander in chief during the Revolution and again in 1798 during the French war, which did not really happen, did not bear the title of full general. On July 2, 1798, President Adams nominated him "to be lieutenant-general and commander in chief." This was followed by the act of March 3, 1798, of which the ninth section read "that a commander of the army of the United States shall be appointed, and commissioned by the style of 'general of the armies of the United States,' and that the present office and title of lieutenant-general shall thereafter be abolished." President Adams, jealous for the executive prerogative as commander in chief, made no appointment under this act and Washington died as lieutenant-general.

LIVED UP TO IT.

She—What a finely chiseled mouth you have! It ought to be on a girl's face.

He—Well, I seldom miss an opportunity.

His Last Call.

The cuckoo clock had announced the hour when graveyards yawn and specters white hold carnival, and still he lingered.

"My dear girl," he whispered, reaching for his hat and cane. "I am dreadfully shy of that bulldog. Would you mind seeing me to the door?"

"With the greatest of pleasure," exclaimed the weary girl, "with the greatest of pleasure!"

And never again did he darken that doorway.

Works Both Ways.

"Think twice before you speak," is a good rule, and so is this: "Sometimes 'tis well to think a time or two before you listen."

Discouraging.

"Goodheart is having a serious time with his humanitarian tenements."

"How's that?"

"He's giving the tenants bathtubs in $6-a-month suites and now they want him to furnish the soap."

COMFORTING.

Farmer—Yes, I want a boy. Can you jump well?

Boy—Jump? Yes, zurr.

Farmer—Could you jump a five-bar gate?

Boy—Um—Yes. I s'pose so, zurr.

Farmer—Well, I think you'll do, then. You see, some of our bulls are a trifle wild at times!

FOUND TIME FOR LITERATURE

English Literary Man Astonished to Find Accurate Scholarship Among Americans.

An English literary man, who visited this country some years ago to lecture, frankly declared that he came not expecting to find accurate scholarship among Americans, especially on purely literary subjects, adding affably:

"You have been too busy and useful a nation in practical matters to give much time to the arts and graces of learning."

During the dinner at which he made this remark he criticised Shakespeare, sharply declaring that his metaphors often were absurd, "as, for example," he said, "Sleep that knits up the ravell'd sleeve of care." How ridiculous to figure sleep as knitting up a torn sleeve of a coat!

A young American sitting near him said modestly: "I think the word is not sleeve, but slave, the thin fluff of a damaged web. It is a technical expression among weavers."

"In the United States probably," retorted the critic irritably. "Shakespeare never could have heard it. He meant sleeve."

"I believe," persisted the American, "the word is printed sleeve in all the old editions. It is not an American word, but has been used for centuries by weavers in Scotland and the north of England."

The visitor frowned and then with English frankness said, laughing: "Thank you. I was mistaken. Perhaps I am mistaken about other things and will be corrected before I leave your shores."

To Drive Dull Care Away.

What! dull, when you do not know what gives its loveliness of form to the lily, its depth of color to the violet, its fragrance to the rose; when you do not know in what consists the venom of the adder, any more than you can imitate the glad movements of the dove. What! dull, when earth, air and water are all alike mysteries to you, and when as you stretch out your hand you do not touch anything the properties of which you have mastered; while all the time nature is inviting you to talk earnestly with her, to subdue her and to be blessed by her! Go away, man; learn something, do something, understand something, and let me hear no more of your dullness!—Sir Arthur Helps.

CONSIDERATE.

Father (calling downstairs)—Mary, just ask your young man if he doesn't think it's pretty near bedtime.

Mary—Yes, papa, and George says if you're sleepy, go to bed, by all means.

Information Wanted.

"Johnny," said the teacher to an incorrigible pupil, "you may go over there in the corner and stand for the present."

Ten minutes later the little fellow began to cry.

"Well, what's the matter, now?" queried the teacher.

"How long do I have to stand here before I get the p-present?" sobbed Johnny.

Court Day.

A small crowd was in attendance at January Court yesterday. The day was raw and cool, and sloppy underfoot. There were about 50 mules on the market, the best selling from $150 to $225. Mr. Asa Jewell, of Cincinnati, was the largest buyer. A few inferior mules were not wanted and left over.

Methodists Go to Work.

The Methodists held services Sunday in the Court House, where they will continue to worship on Sundays until further notice. The prayer meeting services will be held in the basement of the First Presbyterian church, now occupied by the Morehead Music Company.

The Methodist brethren are losing no time in taking action to rebuild the burned structure. At a business meeting the following committees were appointed:

Finance Committee—James McClure, man; Henry Power, Judge E. B. January, E. M. Wheeler, C. A. Duncan, C. N. Fithian.

Building Committee—Henry Power, Chairman; Geo. W. Chapman, Jas. H. Smith, Jas. McClure, Judge E. B. January, C. A. Duncan.

The insurance adjusters will be here today to adjust the loss. The face values of the policies call for $10,000 and we don't suppose that the companies would have the nerve to cut it down to a lower figure.

Remains With Fire Department.

It was yesterday decided by the new city administration that Mr. Ed Hite, whose time had expired as City Electrician, Mr. Howard Lancaster having been elected in his place, should remain member of the fire department as Assistant Chief to Chief Walter Davis. This is a good move, as Mr. Hite is one of the most experienced and efficient fire fighters in Central Kentucky. He has been in the service for twenty-six years and has demonstrated on many occasions that he was a qualified fireman in every way. Mr. Lancaster entered upon his duties as City Electrician and will no doubt make good, as he is an experienced electrician, besides being a popular and deserving young man.

As the above was written, it developed at the meeting of Council last night that Mr. Hite is put on only temporarily.

QUEENSLAND'S WATER TREES

Wise Provision of Nature That Is One of the Curiosities of the Region.

One of the curiosities in natural history in the colony of Queensland is the provision by nature of a supply of water in the roots of certain trees. On these roots the aborigines formerly depended for their water for several months of the year.

There are several kinds of trees in Queensland from which water can be obtained, including three species of eucalyptus, and the kurrajong. The eucalyptus consists of a gum, which is the largest of the back country trees, a box and mallee. The first named is the most preferred, as yielding the greatest quantity. This tree resembles the red gum in appearance, the leaves being a little narrower and of a silvery color. It grows chiefly on sandy or light loamy soil and throws out numerous lateral roots at a depth of about nine inches from the surface of the ground. The position of these roots was ascertained by the blacks by repeatedly jabbing the points of a spear or sharpened stick in the soft earth at a distance of about six or eight feet from the trunk of the tree. The soil was then removed with a wooden shovel for some 20 feet or more and the root cut off at either end. This was then cut up into lengths of about 18 inches, the bark knocked off and the lengths stood on end in some receptacle to contain water. In many cases the blacks used a bag made of the entire skin of the male wallaby. As soon as all these pieces were placed on end the operation, beginning with the first placed, put the end in his mouth, and by a vigorous puff expelled the remaining water. The size of the roots chosen was, with the bark on, about the thickness of a man's wrist. The larger ones being more woody and less porous, contain little or no water. The water is beautifully clear, cool, and free from any unpleasant taste or smell.

THE DARK OF THE MOON.

A Result That Is Produced by the Light From the Earth.

Many people have wondered why the part of the moon that receives no sunlight is often visible to us, the term being the "old moon in the young moon's arms." The dark part is easily seen as a copper colored globe resting in the bright crescent. This that we see is nothing more or less than the earth shine on the moon. We appear the same way to the moon when we are in that phase, and our dark part is where the moonshine appears and the bright part of the sun.

The reason the copper color appears is because light has to traverse the atmosphere of the earth three times—once on coming from the sun to the earth, once when reflected to the moon and again on being reflected back to us. Our atmosphere possesses the peculiar property of absorbing the blue rays of this white light and allowing only the red and orange to go through, thus causing the appearance of copper color by the triple absorption.

An odd thing connected with this phenomenon, though having nothing to do with it, is this: That part of the moon which appears dark to us is the same part of the earth that appears light to the moon at any specified time, and that part of the moon which appears bright to us corresponds to the portion of the earth appearing dark to the moon.

Of course it is well known that the moon gives out no light whatever itself, the moonshine being merely the light of the sun on the moon reflected to us. The same applies with the earth in its shine on the moon, save that we do give out glows, no doubt, around great cities at night, on account of the enormous number of lights. One thing, however, in which moonshine excels the earth shine is its constant character. Where the earth possesses varying clouds the old moon never has any at all.—St. Louis Republic.

A PUNJAB CIRCUS.

Program, in "Punch and Jab" English, as Good as the Show.

The sun never sets on the English language. This overdone of sunshine sometimes warps it out of shape. In the Malays it becomes "pigeon," in the south seas it is either "sandalwood" or "beche de mer," and among the erudite along the water front at Yokohama it is "banzai." Here is a sample of a brand sometimes called "punch and jab" English. It was captured alive by a Calcutta exchange editor armed with his scissors in the jungle of advertising literature that threw its shadow ahead of a native Punjab circus.

PROGRAMME.

Lost Temper.

"Lost temper does great harm," said a politician. "I once knew a man who held thirteen trumps at whist, and on account of his partner's temper he took only one trick with that ideal hand."
"Impossible!" sneered a reporter who conducted a weekly bridge column.
"Impossible? Not at all," was the politician's reply. "You see, as soon as this man trumped his partner's ace on the first play his partner in a rage jumped up and kicked him out of the room."

Accounting For Patrick Henry.

It is related that Chief Justice Salomon P. Chase on stopping at the birthplace of Patrick Henry in Virginia exclaimed: "What an atmosphere! What a view! What glorious mountains! No wonder that Patrick Henry grew here!" Whereupon an honest native dryly remarked that the atmosphere, the view and the mountains had been there for ages, but that only one Patrick Henry had been produced.—Macon Telegraph.

LINCOLN TRIED IT.

And That Ended the Naval Sweatbox Punishment.

On one of Mr. Lincoln's excursions to Fortress Monroe on the steamer Hartford in 1863 his attention was directed to a narrow door bound with iron, the use of which he was anxious to learn.

"What is this?" he asked.
"Oh, that is the sweatbox," was the reply. "It is used for refractory and insubordinate seamen. A man in there is subjected to steam heat and has very little ventilation. It generally brings him to terms very quickly."

President Lincoln's curiosity was aroused. "This," he said to himself, "is treatment to which thousands of American seamen are probably subjected every year. Let me try it for myself and see what it really is."

Taking off his hat, for he was several inches over six feet in height, he entered the inclosure, which he found to be little more than three feet in length or width. He gave orders that a signal from himself the door should be immediately opened. It was then closed and the steam turned on.

He had been inside hardly three minutes before the signal was given. President Lincoln had experienced enough of what was then regarded as necessary punishment for American seamen. There was very little ventilation, and the short exposure to the hot and humid air had almost suffocated him.

Turning to Secretary Welles of the navy department, the president ordered that no such inclosure as the sweatbox should ever after be allowed on any vessel flying the American flag.

It was not an hour after this order had been given before every sailor on every ship in Hampton Roads had heard of it. The effect was most remarkable on the older sailors, many of whom had themselves experienced the punishment of the sweatbox. Some of them wept for joy.

But the good results of this act of President Lincoln were not confined to the American navy. Great Britain, France, Germany and other European countries heard that the sweatbox had been abolished in America as inhuman. One and all of these nations in turn fell into line, and today the sweatbox is not to be found on any vessel flying the flag of a civilized nation throughout the world.

RAN THE BLOCKADE.

Putting Through a Risky Piece of Business at Santiago.

Some naval officers at a dinner party the other evening were discussing the efficacy of the Cuban blockade in 1898. That many vessels ran the blockade at Havana, Cienfuegos and elsewhere was admitted.

"But only one vessel ever ran the Santiago blockade," said one of the speakers, "and that was one of our own vessels, the little Gloucester."

He then described how the Gloucester ran the blockade, while commanded by Dick Wainwright, then a lieutenant commander, who had previously been executive officer of the Maine when it blew up.

"We had been sent down to Asseraderos to communicate with the insurgents," said the raconteur, who was on the Gloucester at the time. "Upon our return it was quite dark, and we were proceeding slowly to our station on the inside line of the blockade when the electric signaling apparatus broke down. We could not give a signal, particularly the private identification signal of the night. Had we been discovered by one of the blockading vessels it would at once have flashed the signal, and if we did not immediately respond it would have promptly opened fire. We would have been blown to pieces in a minute."

"It was a risky piece of business, but Dick Wainwright was perfectly cool, and the Gloucester actually picked its way without being discovered through the whole blockading fleet, took up its station on the inside line, under the Morro, and as soon as the signaling apparatus was repaired reported its arrival. It was a clear case of blockade running, but it was mighty ticklish while it lasted."—San Francisco Call.

An Intelligent Cow.

A few nights ago a citizen went home and found a cow in his yard. He drove her out. He then went into the house and later heard the animal in the yard again. He drove her out the second and third times. The citizen's son came home later and found the animal in the yard and drove her out. The citizen then made an investigation and found the cow got in by wading around the fence on the river side. He hung up a lantern to deceive the cow as she came in, and the next morning, so he says, he found the cow in the yard with the lantern hung on her horns, using the same to hunt out the best grapefruit in his grove. Say what you please, but that was an intelligent cow. And the story is true of course it is.—Fort Myer Press.

Swell Stock.

"Could I sell you an imported Persian cat for $1,000?" ventured the cat and dog fancier.
"What?" exclaimed the multimillionaire in surprise. "Why, I just bought a $5,000 bulldog from you the other day."

"Yes, but I thought you'd want a $1,000 cat for that swell bulldog to chase. You surely wouldn't allow a $5,000 bulldog to chase a common cat, would you?"—Pittsburgh Press.

An Important Advantage.

"Do you think a college education affords a man an important advantage?"
"Oh, yes! One has to have it in order to get into a university club." —Chicago Record-Herald.

GENEROUS AT WIFE'S EXPENSE

Tired Wife Explains How Husband Gets the Reputation He Likes So Well.

"Yes," said the tired-looking woman, "I have a very generous husband, and this is the way he gets that reputation. The other day I worked and slaved in the kitchen for about ten hours making jelly. It was my first attempt, so I had considerable trouble and burned my fingers about seventeen times. It turned out pretty good, however, and of course I was proud and delighted. That night I put some on the table for dinner, and husband got enthusiastic."

"Next day he was visiting a sick friend of his, a man, by the way, quite able to buy anything he might want and whose wife never lifts her finger. On leaving, Mr. Generous Husband says: 'Wife made some pretty good jelly the other day. You might like some. I'll send you up half a dozen jars.'"

"Now, wouldn't that frost you, or rasp you, or whatever they say? Half a dozen jars! After all my work, to hand that jelly over to a man whose wife is too lazy to breathe! I made exactly eight jars, so we will have one more, unless he has already promised it to somebody else."

Haunted Alaskan Island.

To the south and west of Kodiak, distant about 100 miles, and forming one of the Semidi group, is the island of Chirikof, the haunted island of Alaska.

Enshrouded for a great portion of the time with almost impenetrable fog, the Tanna Tribune says, this lonely isle is an object of terror to the natives, who will not go near the island, saying it means certain death to invade the cannibal confines, and there are few men in the far north who have the temerity to test the truth of the many and weird tales told of this forbidding and barren island.

Shipmasters and sailors passing the place assert that the agonizing cries of Russian exiles sent there to starve or die of torture are sometimes heard on quiet nights, while the clink of chains and the sound of blows are testified to in an affidavit by a white man who once attempted to remain there for a week and who lost his reason.

A Mixed Plan.

"That was a raw deal."
"What was?"
"To cook up that plot."

Presence of Mind.

He was a Harvard man with a gift for borrowing things and a defective memory which led to his retaining them. A few days before class day a friend of his bewailed the tortures of breaking in a pair of new russet shoes.

"My foot's smaller than yours," he suggested, kindly. "Lend them to me and they'll be easy enough when I give them back."

Next day he went home, and the new shoes added luster to his arrival in the old town.

Three months later he was at the Seattle exposition. The shoes had reached the stage when they were the despair of Pullman porters, and suddenly he saw their owner bearing straight down on him near the Machinery building.

He turned not a hair, but walking forth to meet his justly incensed friend, exclaimed:

"Old man, you're just the man I'm looking for. These shoes of yours want a new pair of laces dreadfully."

"LITTLE NEMO" AT LEXINGTON OPERA HOUSE.

—Klaw & Erlanger's worlds greatest musical comedy "Little Nemo," is coming to the Lexington Opera House for an engagement of three short nights and one matinee January 6, 7 and 8. There are more than 150 players in the original New York cast, which will be seen there.

No word painting can do justice to this wonderful scenic and musical whirlwind of fun, the magnitude of which has caused the public to gasp with astonishment wherever it has been presented. "Little Nemo," while a complete novelty in point of scenic investiture and filled with startlingly beautiful stage pictures, still has a clearly defined plot. This is, indeed, so strong as to constitute an absorbingly interesting story, the development of which is watched by the audience with the closest attention. In addition to this unusual feature, there is enough laughter-bringing matter in the performance to stock three or four ordinary musical comedies and then have some left over.

"Little Nemo" has cost its producers over $100,000, ten times the amount required for staging an average musical show—but the money has been carefully spent and no detail overlooked, the result being that from the rise to the fall of the curtain the audience is constantly receiving some fresh and beautiful surprise. In "Little Nemo" it is the unexpected that always happens. It requires a special train and fourteen cars to transport the scenery and company.

Judge Lurton's Frist Case.

Judge Horace H. Lurton, who became the new associate justice of the Supreme Court of the United States, arrived in Washington Saturday. He was met at the railroad station by Major Wright, Marshal of the Supreme Court, who escorted him to the New Willard Hotel, and there placed at his disposal a body servant, one of whom is supplied to each member of the court.

Judge Lurton made his first appearance as a member of the court when that body convened at noon Monday.
He took his seat on the extreme left of the Chief Justice, occupying that heretofore occupied by Justice Moody.
As Justice Lurton comes direct from the bench of the Court of Appeals, it was not necessary to supply him with a new robe, and Judge Lurton's garment had preceded him to Washington.

Justice Moody was transferred from the seat on the Chief Justice's left to the farthest seat on his right. Mr.
Moody is still too ill to take his place on the bench but reports from him indicate continued improvement.

The first case which Judge Lurton was called upon to hear was a most important one, being the suit of the Government attacking the validity of the tobacco trust. That case is the first on the court's docket, having been advanced for early hearing.

It involves property worth $400,000-000 and more important still, the validity of the organization.

As the youngest member of the court, it will be Judge Lurton's duty to give the first expression of view on the case when, after the hearing, the court retires for consultation.

The Goosebone Prophet.

A goosebone prophet has made the following forecast of what the winter will be. He says that in his opinion it will be a long hard winter and to back up his assertion he gives some infallible "signs" aside from the markings on the goosebone. He says that during the summer the weeds grew to an unusual height; that the squirrels began storing their winter supply of food earlier than usual, and the muskrats began building operations early in the fall; that the corn husks are thick and the stalks leaning toward the west; that geese, ducks, chickens and all manner of fowls have a thick down under their feathers and a bony substance on their feet; that toadstools on old logs have many wrinkles and that owls retired to the shelter of the gorsebush much earlier than is their usual custom. This student of the gorsebone, after a careful study of its spots, puts himself on record by saying: "January or the early part of it, will see an occasional snowfall—but there will be a warm spell after the 15, and another in the latter part of the month. February will be a severe month, according to the markings, and there will be several blizzards and plenty of ice and snow. March will be opened with mild weather, but it will be bitter cold the latter part of the month." He also says that May will be a month of many cold disagreeable rains, and will be altogether one of the coldest Mays on record.

Transferred to U. S. Court.

The suit of J. T. Quisenberry against the American Tobacco Co., which was filed in Clark county, is transferred to the United States Circuit Court at Frankfort. Quisenberry alleges that he sold a big lot of tobacco to the American Tobacco Company in 1905 at a price that would bring him something over $12,000 and it was to be delivered at the warehouse in Winchester in winter condition; that he did bring the tobacco to the warehouse but the company declined to take it at the time and instead asked him later to re-handle the tobacco which he did; that later on in the fall of the year after he had paid storage and insurance and paid for rehandling the crop the company again declined to take it and he sold it in December for about eight thousand four hundred dollars which was the best price he could get in the market at that time. He sues for the difference between the contract price and the price he was forced to sell it at, which amounts to over $4,000, also asks judgment for the amount he paid for insurance, rehandling and other expenses he was put, to before selling the crop.

WHERE THE MODISTE COMES IN.

"You are my ultimate destiny," he said to the maiden in the hipless gown.

Which simply goes to show that if his words were literally true a dressmaker may do much toward shaping a fellow's destiny.

We'll Satisfy.

"Wall, Judson, how did you make out with your summer boarders?"
asked the tall bumpkin on the fence.

"Wal, tolerable," drawled the old farmer. "Three of them were artists, so I got them to paint the barn, and the two that skipped board ran away with two of my homely daughters, so I can't kick, be gosh."

Cured Him.

"Let's go in here and strike de lady fer a hand-out."

"Never again fer mine! I went in dere one time."

"Did she give you a piece of her mind?"

"Worse than that, she gave me a piece of her pie."

The Main Point.

"Will you fly with me?" asked the swain.

"Whether I shall fly with you or not," answered the maid, who had a knowledge of mechanics, "depends not so much on the type of your machine as it does upon the kind of motor you expect to use."

Silence!

The instinct of modesty natural to every woman is often a great hindrance to the cure of womanly diseases. Women shrink from the personal questions of the local physician which seem indelicate. The thought of examination is abhorrent to them, and so they endure in silence a condition of disease which surely progresses from bad to worse.

It has been Dr. Pierce's privilege to cure a great many women who have found a refuge for modesty in his offer of FREE consultation by letter. All correspondence is held as sacredly confidential. Address Dr. R. V.
Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

PASSING OF PARLOR CARPET

Modern Methods of Living Turn to the Rug as the More Sanitary.

Modern methods of living are asserting themselves more and more every day. For some peculiar reason man always has assumed the prerogative of supplying what he considered the utilitarian portions of the home, and to woman has been delegated its ornamentation, but in the last few years ideas have been changing in this regard and women have become not only the largest buyers, but the finest judges of the necessities, as well as the luxuries of everyday existence.

Only a few years ago the height of womanly ambition in household decoration or idea was a Brussels carpet in the "best room," a floor covering that was often put over a cushion of straw and left to gather dampness, dust and germs, sometimes for years, in the unused parlor. Anyone who has been around at spring cleaning and caught a view of the dirt which has sifted through the carpet was certainly appalled at the sight. For many years this floor covering was considered the acme of elegance, and the woman in comfortable circumstances who would have had the temerity to substitute hardwood floors and rugs for the old-fashioned carpet would have been considered as decidedly eccentric and extravagant.

Game Sport.

"Now that I have my monoplane running smoothly," remarked the aerial crank, "I'd like to build a factory and turn out individual wings by the hundred. Then I'd present them to every one free of charge."

"You are getting generous these days," continued his friend.

"Oh, no, I am pining for sport. It is no fun whizzing around in the air at a mile a minute when there is no one to run down."

Cannot Afford It.

"Roosevelt has not shot many rhin-oceroses, has he?"

"Nope, he'd lose too much money by doing that."

"How so?"

"That is too big a word to sell for a dollar."

Misapprehended.

"My, but the lawyer in that will case was awful rude to me when I was on the stand. He did ask most personal questions."

"You don't expect a lawyer trying to get information to be bowing and scrapping, do you?"

Negroes and Whites in Riot.

Two negro Congressmen entered the bar at the Plaza hotel at Havana, Cuba, Sunday night. This is distinctively an American house and they were refused drinks. They went away at once but returned with a crowd of several hundred negroes. A riot ensued, which was only quelled by a strong force of police, after a fight between the Americans and the negroes in which several were injured. Messrs. James M. O'Brien and T. E. Moore, Jr., of this city, are stopping at this hotel, but we have not learned yet whether they took part in the riot. We have no fears, however, in regard to their safety, as both are men of nerve and able to take care of themselves.

Demand Restoration of Canteen.

A report from Washington says that seasoned military men are demanding the restoration of the army canteen. They resent the action of Congress in yielding to the clamor of prohibition fanatics against the advice of experienced soldiers trained in handling men, and declare that the existing situation makes it difficult to prevent desertion and to secure recruits.

150 Warrants Issued.

Attorney General McCann, of Nashville, has prepared and is now having served 150 warrants in that city and county charging violations of the four-mile liquor law and tippling without license. The warrants are returnable before the magistrates of the county.

Meeting of Swine Breeders.

There will be a meeting of the Central Kentucky Duroc Swine breeders on January 8, 1910, at the Leland Hotel, Lexington, to form themselves into a Sale Company for the purpose of holding a thoroughbred Duroc Jersey brood-sow sale on February 19, at Lexington, Ky.

Fourth Similar Outrage.

The fourth of a series of similar outrages which have occurred in the same vicinity in the last three years was revealed Saturday when the body of Miss Anna Lloyd was found by two boys in a lonely part of Cincinnati. Miss Lloyd had been attacked, gagged and her throat cut. The snow in the neighborhood showed that a struggle had occurred before the woman was overcame.

To Elect Officers.

The stockholders of the Kentucky Racing Association will hold their annual election of officers at a meeting to be held at the Phoenix Hotel next Thursday. J. N. Camden is now president and Garrett D. Wilson acting secretary. It is expected that these officials will be asked to retain their positions. Saturday was the last day for the second payments on the stakes to be run at the race meeting next spring and Secretary Wilson was busy receiving checks from all parts of the country.

Disastrous Floods Predicted.

Many of the monster ice gorges in the Ohio river still defied the thaw Sunday and the old rivermen are expecting disastrous floods from the back water. The gorges act as dams and the river, swelled by melting ice and snow water from Pennsylvania mountains, raises with sudden rushes behind the ice barriers.

Fail to Find Young Heiress.

Diligent search by many private detectives, aided by the police of Philadelphia, New York and other Eastern cities, failed to disclose a clue as to the whereabouts of Roberta De Janon, the 16-year-old heiress, and Ferdinand Cohen, a waiter at the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel in Philadelphia, who are believed to have disappeared together last Wednesday.

T. P. Waddell, Police Judge of Millersburg, with J. J. Peed and U. S. G. Pepper as sureties.
The other county officials had qualified several days ago.
Clerk Paton was also called on yesterday to administer the oath of office to Mayor J. T. Hinton, Police Judge E. B. January and City Treasurer James McClure.

A STICKLER.

"I do not think that we can escape politics even in heaven."
"I'm sure we will."
"Well, then, how did St. Peter get his job as register of deeds?"

THE OLD, OLD STORY.

I builded a house of cards so fair,
In the rose-tinted days of youth;
I dreamed that I built for a whole life long—
Ah, how could I guess the truth:
The truth that love is a fragile thing,
And the price of love is tears—
The hardest lesson of all we learn
In the lonely after years?
And the house of cards has fallen, a wreck,
As a card house ever must fall:
In vain I had builded as best I knew—"Twere better ne'er built at all."

For its gay little walls he shattered,
Fallen its turrets and eaves;
Its Queen rules now in a palace grand,
But I fancy she sometimes grieves.
I have picked up the bits of pasteboard,
Slipped each one into the pack—
My Queen of Hearts has married her King,
And I am a lonely Jack!
—Walter E. Reid, in New York Sun.

UNITED STATES MONEY

There Are Ten Kinds on Uncle Sam's Official List.

ALL ARE NOT LEGAL TENDER

Some of the Most Imposing of the Paper Currency May Be Lawfully Refused When Offered in Payment of an Obligation of Any Kind.

Officially there are just ten kinds of money in circulation in the United States. Could you name them all off-hand? Do you know which of those besides gold coin are legal tender and in what amount? It may be that "all money looks alike to you," but there's a difference, and below is the list:

Gold coins, standard silver dollars, subsidiary silver, gold certificates, silver certificates, treasury notes (1890), United States notes (greenbacks), national bank notes, nickel coins and bronze coins.

Looking upon this formidable classification of United States money as made by the treasury department, it becomes more formidable when it is considered from the highly technical point of view as a legal tender. Some of the most imposing of the paper currency is not a legal tender at all, while, as to the minor coins, they are legal tender in such small amounts as to startle the average layman. It may be well to recall to this layman that the term "legal tender" owes its significance to the fact that in payment of debt or obligation of any kind it can be forced upon the creditor "in full of all demands."

Gold certificates, silver certificates and national bank notes, of which such enormous numbers circulate everywhere, are not legal tender. If you have plenty of money and if you have forced Jones to sue you in order to get judgment, Jones can turn down every one of these bills tendered in payment and force you to dig up something better.

Should Jones do such a thing you might conceive the idea of fixing him by unloading a whole lot of silver coins upon him. But you want to know what you're doing there, too, for he'll take only $10 worth of halves, quarters and dimes, while of nickels and copper cents only 25 cents value is legal tender.

But as to the standard silver dollar, there's no limit upon your shoveling them out to Jones. This old "dollar of our dads" still is the real thing in all business transactions unless some clause in a contract has provided otherwise. Jones may refuse the silver certificate, but when you dig up the metal dollar they go unquestioned at their face value. And 1,000 of them weigh 58.32 pounds.

Treasury notes of the act of 1890 are legal tender to their face value in payment of all debts, public and private, unless expressly stipulated in the contract.

Strictly speaking, the United States notes or greenbacks are legal tender, with the exception of duties on imports and interest on the public debt. Practically, however, since the resumption of specie payment in 1879, greenbacks have been received freely and without question by the government, though the law respecting them hasn't been changed.

While the gold and silver certificates are not legal tender as between individuals, both issues are receivable for all government dues of whatever kind, in this respect legally more acceptable than is the greenback.

National bank notes, while not legal tender and not receivable for duties on imports, still may be paid by the government for salaries and all debts of the government except interest dues and in redemption of national currency.

By especial enactment no foreign coin of any kind or denomination shall be a legal tender in the United States, so that if some time the street car conductor does balk at the chance Canadian dime fished from your pocket keep cool and dig for something that is United States. It's your move.—Chicago Tribune.

Fun For the Boy.

"So you tried to convince your son that he was not too old to be subjected to corporal discipline?"
"That's what I did," answered Farmer Cornstossel. "I gave him a good old fashioned dressin' down in the woodshed jes' the same as if he had been ten years younger."
"What did he do?"
"He jes' laughed an' said it reminded him of the good times he had when he was belted in his college fraternity."—Washington Star.

Where Courtesy Prevails.

"The South Americans are very polite," said the man who travels.
"Naturally," answered Miss Cayenne. "In some of those republics it is not safe to slight the humblest citizen. There is no telling what moment he may become president."—Washington Star.

Marriage.

"Marriage may be compared to a train car," said a confirmed bachelor. "Why?" asked his fair partner.
"Because some people are just as anxious to get out of it as others are to enter it."—London Telegraph.

Foresight.

Little Willie—Say, pa, what is foresight?
Pa—Foresight, my son, is the faculty of being around when there is a reason to be cut.—Chicago News.

Circumstances are not in our power, virtues are.—Farrar.
